Look For A Silver Lining

During periods of difficulty and discouragement it is natural that the minds of people turn to and dwell upon those conditions which are the source of their difficulties and the cause of their discouragement. In fact, the tendency is for people to dwell upon those things to the almost complete exclusion of subjects which provide reason for confidence and encouragement.

This, it may be repeated, is quite natural; just as natural, in fact, as it is during periods of rapid development and general prosperity to close one's eyes to all warning signs along the road. In other words, the vast majority of people are enthusiastic optimists, and quite impatient of words of warning and caution from more thoughtful observers, when things are going well, but are just as confident pessimists, and impatient with those who point to favorable signs, when the existing state of things is bad. Very few of us take note of the cloud swell as a man's hand coming up on the horizon when the moonday sun is shining, and the number is equally small who can see the silver lining to the clouds when the skies are completely overcast.

As a result of this tendency, mankind plunges thoughtlessly ahead, the great majority sweeping all others long for good or ill. During boom periods, when the cry is full steam ahead, and when this, that, or the other great project involving the expenditure of millions of borrowed money is being advocated, persons who tender the advice that we should give more serious consideration to the project, cost the cost, and give a thought to the ultimate and inevitable future payment, are termed back-numbers, tightwads, non-progressive. Governments which at such times tell the people that there is a limit to this discounting of the future, that a pay-as-you-go policy is much wiser, are swept away. The spenders take control.

But when the bubble bursts, when prosperity vanishes and depression takes its place, when the free spending comes to an end, and the bills are presented for payment, and taxation to meet those bills is imposed in heavier and heavier doses, then those who were most outspoken in favor of incurring the bills and most contemptuous of those who urged caution, are the first to complain of the shortsightedness of politicians and governments upon whom they proceed to lay responsibility for all their troubles. On the other hand, during the prosperous periods most people take full credit to themselves for their own advancement, their increased prosperity, and the general improvement of their business and their community, and are inclined to give little or no credit to anybody else.

After all, there are common traits in our human make-up. It is well, however, to occasionally take a good, square look at ourselves, to weigh ourselves in the scales, to be absolutely honest in an impartial estimate of ourselves, to consider our own past actions and their effect upon present day conditions. Furthermore, in this present period of discouragement, it is well to overcome our natural tendency to see everything through blue spectacles, and to take a look at the silver lining to the clouds.

Notwithstanding all our economic problems, Canada is free from some of the worst of those which afflict the people of other nations. For example, what community in the whole length and breadth of Canada has been shocked and outraged by a lynching in its midst, such as is more or less a commonplace occurrence in the United States? How many kidnappings have occurred in Canada even during these times which unquestionably are an incentive to law-breaking and violence, although kidnappings are daily happenings across the line? And why is it such a marked difference for the better prevails on this side of an imaginary line?

The answer is to be found in Canada's far superior judicial system, resulting as it has in absolute confidence that even-handed justice will be administered, thus rendering the invoking of lynch-law unnecessary on the one hand, and proving a deterrent to kidnappers, murderers, and gangster activities. The tradition of respect for law and order in Canada is a great national asset, bringing comfort and security to all our people, and providing a sure guarantee against mob law and gangster rule in this Dominion. It is a strong foundation upon which Canada rests and will build throughout the future.

More of the silver lining is seen in the absence of strikes and riots and picketings in this Dominion as compared with many other lands. There has been an occasional small strike in Canada, one or two small clashes with the officers of the law, an isolated case or two of picketings, but there have been no killings, and, generally speaking, peace and order have prevailed throughout the period of the depression. Canada's legislation dealing with industrial disputes has been effective even under the strain and stress of the present economic upheaval because that legislation is fair to all, burse in its principles and effective in its operation and administration in providing justice for all. In this respect, Canada presents a picture that is most gratifying when placed in contrast to most countries.

In Canada, too, our political system and institutions have stood the test. Revolutions have taken place in other lands, in which lives have been lost, property destroyed, liberties taken away, dictatorships established. In Canada, our people have been moving forward through the orderly processes of democratic, representative government. There has been no revolution, nor will there be. Confidence has been maintained in our existing form of government, and it is proving flexible enough to the people's will to enable them to achieve such reforms as they desire.

Many other examples might be cited, and will occur to readers of this article, but those mentioned are given as an incentive to people to try and overcome their natural tendency to look constantly on the dark side of things in these days, and, for a change, contemplate and study those that are not only brighter but contain promise of still brighter, better things ahead.

Household Drudgery
The Bane of a Woman's Life

Nature intended women to be strong and healthy instead of weak and sickly, and how can women have good health when she has to go through the household drudgery without any relaxation. Women who are weak and run down will find in Milburn's H. & N. Pills a means to strengthen the system and bring back the much desired health.

Woman Botanist Has Made Hazardous Trip

Tale of Heroic Journey Brought Down From Alakvik

From out of the fastnesses of Canada's frozen north emerged a tale of a woman's hazardous journey along 350 miles of the most dangerous part of the Arctic coast.

Miss Isobel W. Hutchison, young Scotswoman, completed the journey braving hardship, hunger and utter cold, and arriving at her destination, Alakvik, just before Christmas.

Word of her exploit was brought to Fort McMurray by Pilot Joan Bythell, Canadian Airways, returned from several months in the far north.

The Scotswoman made the trip by dog teams, Pilot Bythell said, when winter overtook her as she was making her way to Eskimo schooners around from Point Barrow. When the ice formed she had to sled.

It had been Miss Hutchison's intention to make connections with the Arctic boat Pattison, near Point Barrow, but Capt. Peterson was unable to take her to her desired destination, Herschel Island. She therefore chartered Eskimo schooners along the route to help her on her way.

Incidentally, about this time Miss Hutchison had the distinction of visiting and bringing several souvenirs from the derelict Hudson Bay Company's boat Baychino, which was then still afloat about 15 miles off shore.

Later, and after a succession of setbacks, she was finally frozen in about 350 miles short of her goal. This distance with severe hardship and difficulty she covered with borrowed dog teams, arriving at Alakvik a few days before Christmas.

Apparently, stated Pilot Bythell, she was little the worse for this tremendous journey, which if only on account of the excessive cold this winter, would have daunted the most hardened of northern travellers.

Miss Hutchison is collecting rare flower and plant specimens for the Royal Gardens at Kew, England, and for the same purpose spent many months in Greenland a year ago. She is slight in build, Mr. Bythell continued, and her appearance certainly belies the staunch heart and dogged determination which must accompany one who could so compete with the hardy Eskimo in his own terrain.

Empire Mail Service

Studying Routes Between United Kingdom and Canada

The aeronautical correspondent of the London Morning Post declares a cabinet committee was considering steps to launch an intensive period of Empire air communication expansion and that it was studying the routes between the United Kingdom and Canada and the United Kingdom and Australia.

The expansion, the correspondent said, would include faster air mail services and a modified subsidy system. The committee sought, he added, to develop an air mail service comparable with that in the United States.

A Second Houdini

English Vicar Skilled In Freeing Himself From Manacles

The Vicar of Earl Barton, Northamptonshire, England, Rev. L. A. Ewart, is something of a second Houdini and, if he had not adopted the church as a career, might have won fame by his remarkable skill in escaping from leg-irons or handcuffs in the presence of friends and acquaintances.

At a British Legion dinner at the neighboring village of Irchester he astonished the company by a masterly display of handcuff manipulation. His hands were manacled behind his back, but in a few minutes the vicar was free, both locks having been opened.

Mr. Ewart has been known to escape from 25 locks in 10 minutes. He has freed himself from American leg-irons, Siberian fetters and German handcuffs.

On one occasion a police inspector (off duty) at a gathering, fastened a pair of handcuffs on Mr. Ewart, but had no key to release the vicar.

He failed to escape. In a few moments the key was free. Then he induced the inspector to be handcuffed. Smilingly, however, he declined to show his method of escape and the inspector had to return to the police station to get the handcuffs removed.

White Collar Women

Most Unemployed Office Girls Willing To Do Any Work

The white collar women are giving Los Angeles a lot of worry, says W. L. Clark, in Border Cities Star. There are some 14,000 of these girls out of work and the civic authorities are at their wits' ends to know what to do about it. The white collar girls are the stenographers, bookkeepers, secretaries, receptionists, messengers for doctors and dentists, computer operators and office machine operators, saleswomen, bank girls, and others.

They call them white collar girls because they are the ones who worked side by side with the white collar men in offices and stores. With 14,000 trained women and girls seeking work and finding none, Los Angeles is faced with a serious quandary.

Nor is the question unique in California. Every city in California has the same problem to solve. Wind-swept white collar girls are anxious to work, but some of them cannot find any jobs. In fact some of them are only too pleased to work for anything at all.

Evidence Of Upturn Of Business Shown By Increase In Sales Of Salada Tea

An indication that conditions are improving and that business is on the upturn is shown by the fact that the Salada Tea Co. sold over 54% more tea in Western Canada in 1933 than in 1932.

This is especially significant since Salada is a quality tea.

Marvels of the Human Eye

By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 7—PRESBYOPIA OR "OLD-AGE SIGHT"

Although forty years of age is of course not considered old, yet because Presbyopia usually manifests itself at about that age, it is commonly referred to as "old-age sight." How often we hear people say "my sight is just as good as it ever was except for reading and sewing." Yet, this condition is common to man. Let us consider the cause of this natural development which causes so much inconvenience after middle life.

We have fully explained that in order to have a clear image of a distant object focused on the Retina, the length of the eyeball and the curvature of the Cornea and Lens must be properly related. The first two may be considered as fixed as to length and curvature respectively but the third, the Lens is elastic and it is this elastic power or "accommodation" which enables us to focus objects near at hand. Accommodation is most powerful around twelve years of age and then gradually diminishes "till there is none left at age sixty-five or seventy."

For distant objects work a certain amount is absolutely necessary and this the average person of forty-five does not possess, hence the necessity of assisting the failing Accommodation by artificial means in the form of glasses and as the Accommodation continues to decrease, the strength of the lenses must be increased. This change should be every two or three years.

Ruling Is Strict

Producers Require Permit To Pack Grade A1 Eggs

Grade A1 of Canadian eggs is a super-grade and the packing of this grade may be done only by producers authorized by permit by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Application by producers desiring to pack this grade should be made to the Food and Inspection Service, Dominion Life, Ottawa. Grade A1, as it is explained, was included in the recent revisions to the Canadian Standard egg grades for two reasons—first, to provide a place for eggs which, because of production conditions and speed of marketing, merit some recognition over the top commercial fresh egg grade, and, secondly, to establish a grade which would serve as an ideal towards which producers would be encouraged to work. Grade A1 eggs are not a product intended for inter-provincial trading or long shipment. They are produced only under careful production conditions and are marketed without delay.

Fifth Exporting Nation

Canada Held This Position During First 10 Months Of 1933

Canada held her position as the world's fifth exporting nation during the first 10 months of 1933, but the United Kingdom replaced Germany as the second on the list, according to figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from League of Nations sources.

The United States continued to hold first place by a narrow margin over the United Kingdom, while Germany occupied third place; France, fourth, and Japan, sixth. The relative places are computed on values of exports in gold dollars.

Chile Annexes An Island

Took Possession In 1888 But Title Was Not Registered

Easter Island, one of the great archaeological mysteries of the Pacific, has been officially added to the Chilean national domain. Back in 1888 Chile took formal possession of the island, a tiny triangle of volcanic origin, 2,300 miles out in the Pacific ocean from the Chilean port of Coquimbo. An expedition was sent out to plant the flag. A few days ago an inquisitive government official discovered the island never had been placed in the official records, an act necessary to possession of title. The registry was made as quickly as possible, after which authorities aware of the secret took a deep breath.

Test Shipment Of Canadian Wheat Via New York Is Accepted

New York.—Announcement that a test shipment of Canadian wheat sent to England by way of New York had been accepted by the British customs authorities for free entry, had been made Sunday by J. E. Ramsey, general manager of the port of New York.

Mr. Ramsey is chairman of a conference committee of transportation companies, wheat exporters and elevator and port interests which are concerned in the recent regulation giving Canadian wheat shipped through British ports a six-cent preference over that routed through foreign ports.

Mr. Ramsey said Saturday the British customs authorities, in accepting the trial shipment as duty free, stipulated that on future consignments the certificate of non-manipulation, issued by the United States customs and used by the British consul, must cover the entire transit through the United States. Plans for such a document are now being worked out with the United States customs officials, according to Mr. Ramsey.

The export of Canadian wheat to the United Kingdom has been diverted from channels through the United States since the enactment a year ago by the British parliament of a preferential tariff, a result of the Ottawa agreements. Free entry was refused to test shipments last January on the ground that they were not properly consigned.

A test shipment of 8,000 bushels, accompanied by documents, was shipped from here Dec. 7 on the liner Ausonia. The wheat was forwarded to New York from Fort William via Buffalo.

Using Cull Dairy Cattle

Surplus Beef In California Will Be Canned For R. Hot Food

San Francisco.—California's surplus dairy cows and steer beef, totaling approximately 12,000 head, will be slaughtered during the next three months, cooked and canned for distribution to unemployed under the direction of the state emergency relief administration.

The transaction, which will entail the expenditure of $320,000, has been endorsed by the California Cattlemen's association and the California dairy council as direct stimulus to their industries. R. C. Branton, state administrator, estimated the transaction will consume most of the available cull dairy cattle in the state.

Wheat Curtailment Through Quota System Meets With Approval

Winnipeg.—Reduction of wheat acreage, but actual enforcement of Canada's wheat quota of 200,000,000 bushels through the medium of a selling quota for individual farmers, was anticipated by many of western Canada's 300,000 farmers.

At meetings of farmers' locals in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta the wheat agreement signed at London, Eng., limiting exports of grain by major producing countries has been the chief topic of discussion. Although the federal government has yet to announce how the quota is to be made effective, the selling limit based on a five-year average is anticipated.

In brief, the expectation in numerous sources is that the government will take the average production of the past five years on individual farms on a quarter-section basis. Through this medium the export of wheat would be kept within the 200,000,000 bushel limit, world markets would be under virtual control, and a higher and more stabilized price would be achieved.

A selling certificate citing the total which the individual farmer might sell is anticipated, with each delivery of wheat by the farmer to the elevator being marked off by the grain company agent when the delivery is made.

Stronger French Fleet

French Naval Minister Urges Speedy Building Of Powerful Ship

Paris.—Naval Minister Albert Sarraut answered Chancellor Adenauer's inquiry as to where France stood on the navy question by advocating a French fleet stronger than those of Germany and Italy together.

During a secret session of the chamber of deputies' naval committee the former premier urged the speedy building of another Dunkirk to balance Germany's three Deutschland.

The Dunkirk, a man-of-war of 26,000 tons, and with 320-mm. guns and a speed of 29 knots, was rushed to the stocks after Germany brought out her 10,000-ton "pocket battleship" of the Deutschland type. M. Sarraut said the French tonnage is now greater than the German and Italian combined, but inferior in quality.

He emphasized the need for superiority by proposing, as his own idea, not yet submitted to the French cabinet—an additional 250,000,000 franc (currently about $15,000,000) two-year program of building fast aircraft bases for the protection of Pacific possessions, Madagascar, and Indo-China.

Cities Of Youth

Interesting Statistics Gathered Relating To Age Of Population

Ottawa.—Three Rivers in Quebec and Sydney in Nova Scotia are the cities of youth in Canada, according to census figures just compiled by the Dominion bureau of statistics. In both these cities 46 per cent. of the population in 1931 was under the age of 20 years. At the other end of the list was Victoria, where only 28 per cent. of the people had yet to see their 20th birthday.

The prairie provinces showed up better than Ontario. Regina led the list with 38.04 per cent. and Edmonton followed closely with 38.45. Winnipeg had 35 per cent. under 20, Calgary 34 and the average was 36.

No Compulsion For Saskatchewan Farmers States Premier Anderson

Regina.—Farmers of Saskatchewan will not be faced by any compulsory wheat acreage reduction legislation, according to Premier J. T. M. Anderson.

Details of the plan have not yet been announced, but Hon. M. A. MacPherson, attorney-general, stated on his return from Ottawa that the government would launch an educational campaign as a means of meeting the principle involved in the international wheat agreement.

According to reports from Ottawa during the Dominion-provincial conference at Ottawa, Canada is faced with the necessity of lopping 4,000,000 acres off its wheat area.

Details as to how this policy will be interpreted in relation to Saskatchewan will be announced shortly by Mr. MacPherson.

Ever since this huge over-production of 1929 the industry has been endeavoring to level off production to absolute retail demand. To-day it found itself far behind the demand of its dealer organization.

EXPERT ATTENDS NEWFOUNDLAND'S STAMP FRAUD TRIAL

Mr. Cyril Harmer, famous British stamp expert, has sailed for St. John's, Newfoundland, to give evidence in a case of alleged forgery of postage stamps. This is believed to be the first time that a member of the stamp trade in Great Britain has been asked to go to one of the Dominions for such a purpose. Thus arrests have been made in Newfoundland in connection with the case, which is being brought by the Newfoundland Government. One of the defendants is charged with attempting to obtain about $30,000 from Mr. R. Harmer by offering to sell him forged overprints of the Italian Air Armada stamps. Here we see Mr. Cyril Harmer examining stamps in his office.

Mounted Police To Investigate Similar Reports From North

The Pas.—A lone winter patrol of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police rushed through the north country, en route to Lac du Brochet trading post, where sinister and vague reports have aroused fears that a white-god or "Cannibal-Spirit" death has occurred among the Chipewyan Indians of the Barren Lands.

Grisly tales of a demented Indian being tied to a dog sleigh by companions have been relayed "outside" the post, where the night in the bitter cold until he froze to death.

It is to investigate the source of the reports and possibly arrest tribal leaders responsible for the crime that Sgt. Percy Rose, veteran musher, is making the cold 250-mile trip north to the distant Indian camps of Burntwood Bay and Redoubt Lake, on the fringe of the Northwest Territories.

Uniform Companies Act

Expect Legislation To Be Enacted For All Provinces

Winnipeg.—Adoption of a uniform companies act in all provinces of the Dominion can be expected following a conference of legal officers of the various provinces in Ottawa next March. Hon. W. J. Major, K.C., attorney-general, said, following his return from the Ottawa Dominion-provincial conference.

Mr. Major said the legislation was expected to be introduced in the house of commons before the end of the coming session and at least several of the provinces would be able to pass the act in their 1934 sessions. Definite agreement on the new companies act was reached at the Ottawa conference, he said.

Quake Takes Ghastly Toll

Disaster In India Results In Heavy Loss Of Life

Calcutta, India.—Total fatalities not exceeding 6,000, and property damage in the millions will be the final toll of an earthquake felt throughout India, centring in Nepal, Bihar and Orissa, it was believed by authorities as rescue work proceeded under stupendous difficulties.

Pestilence threatened the province of Bihar and Orissa, where hundreds of bodies remained under debris as deep as 15 feet, the stench making the cities of Muzaffarpur and Monghyr almost unapproachable. Vultures circled over the desolate scenes.

Cholera broke out in a Monghyr isolation camp while starved and almost insane natives were still being extricated from the ruins in which they were pinned along with the dead. Months, and probably years, will be needed to complete restoration, and minor tremors still cause great fear.

It is impossible as yet to form any estimate of the tremendous property damage, and while authorities reason that 6,000 dead may be the maximum, there remains the possibility the final count may be found to be much higher.

One reason for believing the dead may number many thousands more than official estimates is that many of the deaths will never be recorded, owing to the custom of cremating the dead as soon as possible. In some regions where fuel was insufficient for this purpose bodies which could not be burned were unceremoniously thrown into rivers.

Tentative estimates of property damage at the loss to government buildings alone at well over $1,000,000; to municipalities, nearly $2,000,000; to private property, $8,000,000; to railroads, $4,000,000; and to crops, except sugar, $2,000,000—a staggering preliminary total of $17,000,000.

Ask Britain For Suggestions

Stalemate Between France And Germany May Be Settled

London.—An invitation to the British government to formulate definite suggestions designed to lead to a settlement of the disarmament stalemate, it was learned authoritatively, was contained in a German reply to British arms inquiries of a month ago.

Although official circles did not comment on this connection, it was recognized in some political circles that acceptance of this bid would, in effect, more or less place the British government in a position of attempting to bridge the gap between the French and German views.

Ottawa.—Financial assistance to Saskatchewan and Manitoba has been advanced by the Dominion to enable the western provinces to pay unemployment relief accounts. An order-in-council, tabled in the house of commons, advanced $1,000,000 to Saskatchewan on loan to be used to defray expenses contracted by the Saskatchewan relief commission.

A second order-in-council advanced a loan of $500,000 to Saskatchewan for direct relief expenditures and a third advanced $500,000 of the Dominion's share of direct relief payments. This credit will be used up as the Dominion share of unemployment relief grows.

Manitoba was loaned $370,000 to pay off relief bills. On the three loans, the provinces will deposit one-year treasury bills with the Dominion, bearing interest at five per cent. payable half-yearly. The advance to Saskatchewan, pending final settlement of the Dominion's share of relief, also will be secured by one-year treasury notes.

Was Calgary Pioneer

W. H. Cushing, Prominent Lumber Man, Dies At Age Of 81

Calgary.—First minister of public works for Alberta, W. H. Cushing, a pioneer of the frontier days who came to Calgary in 1883, died here January 25. He was 81 years old.

Appointed minister of public works in the first government of the province by the then premier, A. C. Rutherford, now chancellor of the University of Alberta, Mr. Cushing served until his resignation in 1910. He was mayor of Calgary in 1910, and had served on the executive boards of many civic organizations. He was a charter member of the Calgary board of trade.

Born in Wellington county, Ontario, Mr. Cushing early identified himself with the lumbering industry, and in Alberta had built up one of the largest lumber establishments in the province with branches spreading into Saskatchewan.

Prospecting By Air

Noted British Aviators Will Search For Gold In Desert

London.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's automobile speed record, and Sir Alan Cobham, noted British aviator, will leave London shortly on an aerial quest for gold in the waterless Kalahari desert, the Daily Mail announces.

They proposed to aight in the desert and use the plane as a base from which to explore on foot with the assistance of a geologist whom they will take with them.

Speech From Throne Stresses The Return Of Economic Stability

Ottawa.—Parliament opened with a rush on Thursday. Leaden skies failed to dampen the colorful opening ceremony, much of it rooted in antiquity. Hundreds of people lined Parliament Hill to catch a fleeting glimpse of the pageant.

The speech from the throne, studied with expressions of optimism, stressed better times to come and returning economic stability.

The speech forecast a Dominion-wide building program to relieve unemployment.

The subject was canvassed at the recent Dominion-provincial conference and might be instituted by the Dominion alone or with the co-operation of the provinces and municipalities.

The speech intimated legislation would be introduced to "facilitate the efficient and profitable marketing of livestock and agricultural products," possibly through a co-operative form of a marketing board.

The government will submit for ratification agreements designed to mitigate silver fluctuations. The bank act, under which the chartered banks operate, will be overhauled on a new basis.

W. N. U. 2-1

the basis of the Macmillan commission report, particularly the establishment of a central bank.

The speech foreshadowed legislation amending the Excise act, possibly to reduce the gallonage tax on liquor; the Companies act, possibly to consolidate it on a Dominion-wide basis with the aid of the provinces; the Judges act and the Election act.

The world wheat agreement, designed to remove abnormal supplies from the market and regulate acreage, will be tabled in the house, the speech indicated. There was no mention of the St. Lawrence waterways treaty, now before the United States senate for ratification.

The entire Excise act will be revised and re-written; department of national revenue officials have been working on this statute for months and it will be brought up to date. Much of this legislation has become almost archaic in its terms.

It will be revised in keeping with modern trends of business and technology although no great changes are anticipated in its application. The question of lower excise taxes on liquor or on any other commodities, will be a matter for the budget, expected late in February.

ODDS AND ENDS

Creative work can only be done by creative minds, which requires clearness of vision, imagination and deep thinking.

Noticing letters coming from other towns, and comparing stamp cancellations, Coleman post-office is in the progressive column with its automatic canceller. Postmaster Graham's office is undoubtedly among the top-notchers in efficiency, as well as in service to the public.

Never has the town been served so well in removing snow from sidewalks or putting gravel down to prevent dangerous accidents. Prevention is always a lot cheaper than cure.

A reduction of over $200 was recorded for street lighting in 1933 as compared with 1932. Automatic switches are credited with the reduction.

Sunday games are not viewed with favor in Canada. Six days in each week gives plenty of time for games. The sanctity of the Sabbath is something not to be lightly regarded.

The little excursion into the realm of art was enjoyed by quite a large number of people at the Carnegie exhibition of paintings last week-end. The interesting talks by Mr. E. Deniston Garner added greatly to the pleasure of those visiting the exhibit.

'Tis said a rolling stone gathers no moss, but a little bit of gossip soon accumulates a hundred times its original value. One painting at the art exhibition here had been mentioned by the gentleman in charge as being valued at $2000. Before the exhibition was over it had increased to $10,000. It was the picture of an actress painted by Sir John Lavery about 40 years ago.

Dr. Reinhold of Bellevue came to the art exhibition, bringing with him an old masterpiece he had acquired on his recent trip to Europe, which will interest art lovers in the district.

Some so-called beautiful calendars which are given away are atrocities as works of art, stated E. Deniston Garner. He described one which showed a sunset and the moon rising, something no artist would attempt to paint.

Local newspapers indicate a lack of interest in annual meetings of ratepayers. Those who are satisfied with those who do not attend, except the few who realize that co-operation is necessary.

A reporter in the city of London who was assigned to reporting banquets almost every evening became so stout that he had to abstain from meals during the day. Hotel managers insisted on inviting him in order to ensure reports being published, but what was a pleasure to others became a painful duty to him, not only in eating, but in all the 'toad' he was forced to listen to.

In conversation with Jack Devine on the corner, it was remarked that the street reminded one of a cemetery, there being dead men's names visible on the buildings. "Yes," Jack replied, "and there are quite a number still walking around who are just as dead but don't know it."

STAFF NOTES IN COLEMAN HIGH SCHOOL ECHO

No doubt you are all weary of exhortations to pass in more material for the 'Echo' or to put more effort on study, and therefore we are going to give you a respite. This time we are going to write a few words about consciences.

In the first place, a conscience is not a thing to be developed or acquired. We cannot make ourselves have one. On the contrary, it is something everyone of us naturally possesses, whether we want one or not. Shall we say, then, that a conscientious person is one who has a conscience? And that an unconscientious person is one who has not? By no means. The former is the person who will be guided, to some degree, by his conscience; while the latter refuses to listen to its judgment. Now it would seem as if there were persons right here in our midst who are without consciences, those who refuse to perform their various duties, those who are careless of all responsibilities, whether at home, in school, or in connection with other activities. To those we say, listen to that inward voice of yours. It may be saying something you need to hear. Remember it is always there ready to give advice.

THE NEWSPAPER

Now that we've taken care of the banks and the buildings and loan companies and the insurance companies and railroads and the mortgage companies and the farmers—does anyone have any objection to some sort of relief for the newspapers? Asks the New Glasgow Evening Times.

Bad times and good, the newspapers must go on just the same. The harder the times, the greater value of news. The newspapers must be manned. It costs just as much to get out the newspaper, despite the fact that advertising has dropped to a new record low-ebb.

But no one sheds tears for the press. Newspapers are supposed to cry for relief of others, sob for the suffering in individual or corporation form, and snarl for justice and retribution. Every headache is carried to the newspapers, every complaint is given to the press, appeals for the needy, pleas for business, charitable and civil organizations begging for political reform—all is a part of the newspaper's duty to the public.

But when business falls off advertising contracts are cancelled and publishers are struggling for a livelihood, a sudden attack of deafness comes over the land.

Does anybody ever stop to think that a town without a newspaper these days would be completely off the map.

—Hanover Post

Inertia and laziness are brakes on the wheels of progress. The man who does not fight them off will always be among the tail-enders.

In some schools 10-year-old children are being taught to use typewriters. A newspaper office welcomes such news. Invariably hand written copy is difficult to understand, and has to be re-written by typewriter in order to facilitate it being set by linotype. This makes extra work and in a rush such copy is cast aside till someone has time to copy it.

Coleman Tops League By Easy Margin

By a 2-1 victory over Bellevue on Monday in their last game of the league schedule, (Coleman has the record of going through the series without having lost a game. The nearest they came to defeat was a drawn game with a score of 1-1 against Blaimore. It is a source of pride to Coleman fans that the team has maintained its lead. The season has been marked by keenly contested games, and everyone feels they have had their money's worth.

Snow shovels and twenty below in many places in Canada are replaced by mushies and 55 above at Victoria B.C., these days where the sixth annual midwinter golf tournament swings into action at the Royal Colwood Course February 19-24. Men in the government camps at Bellevue and Frank are about to commence work on the much talked of new highway through the Frank slide. A new pay system will be put into effect with the commencement of this work, it is reported.

Press reports of late seem to be getting on the nerves of those people living down at Lime city. It is rumored the government has sent out official warning to all living there, so no doubt there is danger of another slide. But why all this fresh scare? If it is so dangerous, why does not the government compel and bear the expense of moving those people out from the danger zone?

The local R.C.M.P. have instructions to check up on all motorists not having 1934 license plates after Feb. 1st. Some say they are going to put the car away until April 1st. That will be one way of saving "five bucks."

Too Hard On Roadbed

Speedy Trains Are Not Put Into Regular Service

A train which travels so quickly that its high speed is still in advance of practical use is an anomaly, but Germany possesses it today in the electrical "Flying Hamburger," and it is of interest to note that thirty years ago speeds unequalled in the world were achieved by electrical trains built by English electric companies. On September 15, 1903, a speed of 124.88 miles an hour was reached, and this was increased on October 27 to 136.66 miles. Technical difficulties, especially connected with the roadbed, were responsible for the fact that these trains were not put into regular service. There was also no popular demand at that time for such rapid travel. The record of 142.9 miles made by the "Zeppelin on rails" two years ago, still stands unchallenged as the world's record for travel on rails, but the speed is too high for practical use.

Mrs. Gihman completed her 49th reading at the home of a daughter in Springfield, Missouri, on Christmas Eve.

Alberta Phone System

Government Would Sell Lines To Farmers' Organizations

Running behind at the rate of a million dollars a year on its telephone system, the Alberta government is negotiating with a large number of farmers' organizations in an effort to sell its rural lines. One sale has been completed, a group of farmers west of Bentley taking over the lines and telephones in that area.

The rural lines may be purchased at sacrifice prices. Poles in the grounds, including anchors, cross-arms, side blocks, insulator and other accessories are offered at 30 cents apiece. Iron wire will be sold at a cent a pound, or about $3.40 for a mile of line (two wires).

Could Prevent War

Biunenfeld States Britain And United States Have Power

Ralph D. Biunenfeld, chairman and editor of the London Express, says with some force that talk of war in Europe is "bunk" and that Britain and United States, "standing shoulder to shoulder," could prevent any war from starting.

If the British Empire and the United States who held the bag and paid the bills in the late lamented war were to refuse to come into another one, physically or financially, no nation in Europe would fight—Vancouver Sun.

International Trade

Nations Have Always Exchanged Goods That Were Similar

While we are waiting for Siam to become self-sufficient in optical instruments and Iceland in salt pork, it turns out that France, the land of flowers and wine, finds it necessary to import her apples and pears from the United States. So perhaps the nations may yet continue to find things which they can profitably exchange among themselves, not only fruit for cotton or silk for copper, but actually fruit for fruit and one kind of silk for another kind of silk. At least men have been exchanging such things since the dawn of history. New York Times.

Moisture Conservation

Hon. James F. Bryant, K.C., chairman of the Saskatchewan Commission on Conservation and Afforestation, has announced particulars of a statement which he felt—

- (1) would result in the desired out-tailing of wheat acreage;
- (2) would retain the moisture and prevent the drying out of the land by hot winds;
- (3) would help to keep the roads open in winter;
- (4) would furnish a wood supply for every farm;
- (5) would provide a shelter for birds which would assist in keeping down the insect pests;
- (6) would add to the beauty and attractiveness of the landscape;
- (7) would help very materially to bring back normal rainfall to the drought-stricken areas of the province.

This could be accomplished by the planting of trees in strips ten rods wide running East and West, and North and South, through every farm section of land in the prairie districts of Saskatchewan.

If all the trees now growing on the Forestry Farms at Indian Head and Suburban, and on the Provincial Institutions Farm at Battleford, Prince Albert, Regina, Mooseomin and Weyburn, were made available for this purpose and an additional very large acreage put in next spring for this drive, through the co-operation of the Federal and Provincial Governments, a very large start could be made in the proposal during the first season.

The prospects are that there will be plenty of moisture in the next few years so that the trees would get a good start; and grow rapidly, and it is essential that the lessons of the dry years be not forgotten, and provision made during the wet years

PROPOSED FORESTATION STRIP IN EACH SECTION

Drawing shows how strips of trees would keep highways open in winter. Highways adjoining a section are No. 1, the 10 rod strip of trees, passing both ways through the section is shown as No. 2 and No. 3 represents the areas where snow would drift in winter leaving the other edges clear.

Ancient Irrigation System

One In Yucatan Superior To Any Built By Egyptians

Constructed hundreds of years ago by Mayan engineers of the ancient Mayas, a storage and irrigation system in the Yucatan area is to be restored and put back into service by the Mexican Government. The intricate network of underground canals is said to be superior to that of the ancient Egyptians. Reservoirs of the system were lined by the Mayan engineers with waterproofed stone and plaster, as were the aqueducts, branch canals and drainage channels. Thus enough water was stored during the rainy season for use during the rest of the year.

Tree studies in Colorado's Rocky Mountain region indicate that there has been little change in climate for the past 400 years.

Mexico's population is 16,562,722, the Department of Commerce announces.

That are immediately to follow to combat any returning periods of drought, with all available scientific knowledge.

The Government could make a contract with each farmer in the dried out area, to summerfallow a strip ten rods wide, each year, through the centre of the section of land, and cultivate the trees for ten years after they are planted, and at the same time keep the stock out of the young trees. In consideration of this agreement, the Government could furnish the trees and set them out the year following the summerfallow of the land. The strip could consist of half quick-growing trees and half ash, elm and fir trees planted alternately.

The contract could provide that in the event the farmer or tenant failed to cultivate the trees, the Municipal Council could have the work done and charge up the taxes against the land.

Where the farmers' boundaries are in the centre of the section, each farmer could take care of the five rods of timber on his own land. The proposed plan will utilize ten acres on each quarter section. This acreage taken from cultivation in order to comply with the terms of the Wheat agreement could not be employed to greater advantage.

The snow will drift into the timber and thus be in the centre of the section and away from the roads, so that they could be kept open during the winter at minimum cost.

The snow banks in the timber will melt by degrees in the spring after the frost gets out of the surface of the ground so that the water will not run away on the frozen surface but will sink into the ground and help build up the reserve of moisture in the subsoil.

This plan has recently been suggested by an expert in the United States and fits in exactly with the Saskatchewan proposal to remedy conditions in the drought area in the years that are to come.

Explanations And Comments

True Treasures, verses 19-21. When Jesus bids one lay not up for himself treasures upon the earth, his statement is not to be taken literally. He is not speaking against wise provision for the future here on earth, but is contrasting the value of earthly and heavenly things. Rather than avariciously to store up treasures on earth, which may be destroyed by moth or rust or stolen by thieves, he counsels one to lay up for himself treasures in heaven, which are indestructible. Whittier puts the thought into verse:

"Before the Ender comes, whose chariot Is swift or slow Disease, lay up Thy harvest of well-doing, wealth that lingers Nor thieves can take away. When all the things Thou callest thine—goods, pleasure, honours—fall, Thy in Thy virtue shall survive them all."

"We have cast anchor just for a little while beside this island of a world, but we are bound for the Continent of Immortality," said Frances E. Willard, "and since the ship must so soon lift its anchor, since its gleaming sails beckon us toward a friend's hand toward yonder fair and mystical horizon, let us take on board a cargo which shall be worth something in the country where we are to spend the longest time."

For where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also. "The heart follows the treasure as the needle follows the loadstone, or the sunflower the sun."—(Matthew Henry).

New York's Latest Idea

City To Have R-Production Of Solar System In Miniature

The New York Evening Post says: "Heaven has been a long time coming to New York. In fact, it isn't here yet."

But it's scheduled for the spring of next year.

It's an "artificial heaven"—a reproduction of the solar system in miniature. And it's to be placed in the planetarium building to be constructed by the Museum of Natural History on the Eighty-first street side of its grounds on Central Park West.

Crowning the two-story structure will be a dome having a diameter of seventy-five feet. At the base of the dome the horizon will represent the skyline of New York in silhouette.

Before the eyes of the onlookers will be unfolded the mighty pageant of the skies.

"The inverted bowl," in the words of Dr. George H. Sherwood, director of the museum, "becomes a stage where the tremendous drama of the heavens, with an 'all-star cast,' is presented within the short span of an hour."

Even a heaven at last, an artificial heaven—has to be financed.

New York's is to be made possible partly by a bond issue of $650,000 to be purchased by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and partly by a gift of $150,000 from Charles Hayden. The R.F.C. money pays for the building and Mr. Hayden's gift provides the canopy of stars. Hence the announcement that the name of the structure is to be "The Hayden Planetarium."

Star-gazing will be a thrilling experience in New York's artificial heaven.

Weighing A Ship

Gross Register And Displacement Have To Be Figured

The tonnage of a vessel is of two kinds. First there is the gross register. This means the cubic capacity of the ship's hull added to that of all erections on deck, but excluding space occupied by machinery. This is calculated in units in 100 cubic feet. The Board of Trade ton.

Secondly there is displacement, which gives the vessel's actual weight. The part of the ship under water is measured and the weight of water that would occupy its place is calculated.

Debit Is Too Heavy

Public Bodies And Corporations Of Canada Carrying Big Load

The following article is from the MacMillan Report: Between 1900 and 1913 the total indebtedness of the public bodies and corporations of Canada rose to over two billions of dollars. It is not sufficiently realized that it has grown by over 50 per cent. since 1914. Nor is it true that the war was largely responsible for this. By 1919 the total had risen from 2 to 3.7 billions only. Moreover the actual increase in the burden of debt since 1929 is much greater, because of the fall in prices, than expansion from 7.4 to 8.6 billions of dollars would indicate.

Were this debt held wholly in Canada it would still bear heavily enough on the producer. But the fact that much of the money came from abroad has involved the country in an external debt problem of great magnitude as well. It is clear that all the elements of the Canadian economy must be highly efficient and the natural wealth be abundant if such a burden is to be borne and the population is to continue to enjoy the high standard of living characteristic of North America.

People Still Inventing

Exhibits At Minnesota Show Are Unique As Usual

Inventors are inventing things, no matter what the morrow brings—things ranging from rubber shoe laces to hair tonics. They are on display at the Minnesota Inventors' Show in Minneapolis, where D. C. Jones proudly exhibits a material he says will make the grass grow green by just sprinkling it on the lawn. For lazybones who want the extra minute sleep in the morning, there is a pair of rubber shoe laces that never have to be tied or untied. Just slip your feet in the shoes and presto! A Negro has concocted what he claims is a substance that will take the kink out of hair. A white gentleman exhibited a device to put the kink back. One can take one's choice.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of finding an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and her friends are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Camilla is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise. Camilla decides that she must leave the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with Rose, her sister, who is a file clerk in a business house. They decide to take an apartment.

(Now Go On With The Story)

"Well, you win the scholarship and go ahead and do what you like. I give you a chance with your girl," stammered Peter.

"What girl?"

"The rich little dame we quarrelled over."

"Camilla?"

"Sure. Lord, she's a beauty, though."

"She's my wife," Peter announced calmly.

"What?" Gus shouted. His incredulity and consternation surprised even Mrs. Hoyt's. "Tell me something I can believe."

"Believe it or not."

"When?" he demanded.

"Don't you ever read the society column in the papers? We were married the day after commencement, but it was announced only last week. We finally obtained the Hoyt blessing after keeping it a secret all those weeks as we could."

"What a break for you! I guess I came to the right place for help, all right. You live over there in that palace?"

"Not much! Neither will Camilla, after this week."

"You don't mean she's comin' here to live with you, in this little room?" he retorted.

"No, she wants to live with her sister, until I get going. That was the arrangement from the first."

"Oh, trying a new stunt, to solve the struggle problem of marriage?"

"Just about that. It's Camilla's idea, until I can afford to keep her. She's going to work, too."

"Sure, she thinks that's easy, but it won't last. Not for her. Occasional wife, eh?" he grinned. "Well, I have to hand it to you. That's the kind of wife to have these days—one you don't have to take care of. But it might be dangerous to have a wife as beautiful as Camilla so free."

Peter's jaw closed rigidly. "That'll do for you," he said evenly, but the words were like a growl of warning before an angered dog leaps.

Gus stood up casually, but his eye watched Peter warily. Well, congratulations, anyway, and good luck. I'll run along now. But how about a loan of ten, just for a few weeks? I wouldn't ask you if I didn't need it like the duce."

"Sorry, Gus, but I haven't ten to my name. I'm just managing to keep myself while I finish this work. After that, I hope to do better."

When Gus had gone, Peter recalled his denial of entering the exhibit, and wondered what it could mean. Had Sylvia misinterpreted him, or had Gus given up the idea after he started? Peter was puzzled.

CHAPTER XXVIII

It was by a strange chain of circumstances that Camilla obtained her position. Of just such chains of linked coincidences is all life formed, and still folk wonder and exclaim over destiny's inexorable cunning as it shapes and forges the connecting links of time and place and character in their consecutive positions. That is why we insist that life is stranger than fiction. We take for granted in life what we refuse to believe possible in the lives of fictitious characters.

The business depression had called upon the Wheatheart Cereal corporation, as upon what corporation had it not? The manufacture of breakfast cereal for robust children was the business that had built the fortune of Hoyt. Alexander Hoyt I, founder of the industry and inventor of the specialized machinery which manufactured this inimitable food for health and vitality. It was Alexander Hoyt II, who now occupied the chair at the head of the table during directors' meetings, and consulted with chief advisers behind a ribbed glass door marked "President."

But there was no Alexander Hoyt III, who would take up the burden of industry and fortune and carry on for a third generation. Perhaps that was why the twinkle of Alexander Hoyt the second's humor only escaped as far as his eyes and lurked behind his bi-focal spectacles. A young son to add to the problems and pleasures of his youth, and an older one now to shift the burdens of commerce and finance to sturdy shoulders, undoubtedly would have coaxed laughter to his lips, to trace his happier lines upon a careworn face.

Between the burdens of big business at the office and the executive dominance of Amelia Hoyt at home, the laughter had had little chance. Only Camilla had managed occasionally to coax it into the bonhomie eyes. Now, the business burdens were doubled, trebled. A crisis was imminent. An efficiency expert was called in. More advertising was the remedy prescribed. Not the prosaic advertising on a small scale, which had been good enough heretofore. Hereafter was not now. Dramatic measures were required. Sensational advertising, something novel and expensive—ballyhoo. How much? Half a million at the least!

To advertise Wheatheart Cereal which retailed for eight cents a package? Impossible, preposterous, declared the conservative board of directors of Wheatheart Cereal corporation. Might as well close up shop before they were ruined, anyway. Better to make a graceful retirement than a disgraceful failure.

But, argued the efficiency expert, volume of production was the need and the cure for the present crisis. Only advertising could command it. The half million invested in advertising would put hundreds to work. It was as endless as a chain letter: advertising experts, artists, copy writers, office auxiliaries, printers, ink manufacturers, paper mill employees, lumbermen, magazine salesmen, et cetera, ad infinitum.

And in the half life plants of the Wheatheart Cereal corporation, the new volume of sales would require a full force back at work. That was the answer to all the business troubles. Attract people to buy, give them work with which to earn money to buy, and the thing moved by perpetual motion on its own momentum.

Finally, the expert had his way. He recommended to bundle the new advertising program to the directors of Weeks and Bowman. The new contract created a furor in that exhibition for big contracts were getting to be memories of the past. A new client ready to spend half a million to advertise breakfast cereal on one condition: that the half million double its returns within a few months. That required something clever, something which would command attention.

Whose attention? Primarily, housewives. But how? Tell them to send their husbands off in the morning with the memory of their breakfast cereal to inspire them for the day? In too many cases, the memory of the breakfast quarrel or Adeline in kid culottes was more predominant.

No, the way to a man's heart might be through his stomach, but the way to a woman's attention was through her children. And if the matter concerned the welfare and happiness of her children, better still. Juvenile attention, then, was the new contract required, Weeks and Bowman concluded. The talents of the present staff were reviewed hastily. No, they had no one who filled the specifications. Juveniles—somewhere in the back of Mr. Bowman's mind, a memory stirred. Somewhere he had seen some darned good juvenile stuff that had arrested his attention. Was it ad copy already published that he had admired—no, wait a minute. It was the little girl who had said that work was pleasure, and she had done a bunch of stuff to submit for samples.

After considerable search, Camilla's name and address were discovered, and she was summoned to the office of Weeks and Bowman. She had planned that morning to look at apartments, rather discouraged, but determined that she would be happier and perhaps more successful when she had taken up her new life with Rose.

Bates had announced the telephone call while she breakfasted in her room. She reached for the telephone listlessly, expecting to decline another invitation for tea, lunch, bridge, golf, theatre, or dinner. A strange voice greeted her.

"Are you a Miss Hoyt who applied for a position with Weeks and Bowman some time ago?" it asked.

"Oh, yes," Camilla was almost breathless with excitement. Her heart raced wildly.

"This is Mr. Bowman speaking. You showed me some juvenile samples, I believe."

Her beloved park sketches. "Yes, Mr. Bowman."

"Are you working now?"

"No, I'm not," weakly.

"Well, we have a new contract that requires juvenile stuff. I don't know what, yet, but you might help to advise us in the matter. I can't promise you the work, now, because this program will require a lot of consideration. Would you like to come in and talk with us about it?"

"I'd be delighted, Mr. Bowman. When?"

"Make it this morning, can you? The sooner, the better."

"I'll be there in an hour," she promised.

"Fine! You might bring those samples if you will."

Camilla's hands trembled when she replaced the telephone. She leaped to her feet. A dash for the shower. What to wear? The white knitted silk with the red patent belt and trim. Next, cool—and becoming. Peter had told her she looked like "sugar and spice, and everything nice" in it. Dear Peter. Oh! she had to make good. Juvenile stuff. Mr. Bowman had said. Just what she loved to do! Oh, wasn't life a happy, blessed thing, her heart sang, while her thoughts gyrated in confusion.

Within the hour, she presented herself at the office, carrying her portfolio and betraying none of the tense excitement which struggled within her like the clamor of machines in a gigantic factory.

Mr. Bowman was gracious, shook hands with her and explained, "we'll go right into the other room where the rest can talk with you and see your work," and to Camilla's astonishment, she entered into a conference with the directors of the firm of Weeks and Bowman.

ference with the directors of the firm of Weeks and Bowman.

A third and most breathless surprise was Mr. Bowman's explanation that their new client was the Wheatheart Cereal company. The firm of which Alexander Hoyt was president, would spend a fortune to recover a fortune—and that complicated miracle would be in her hands if she obtained the position. Dared she presume upon her ability so far? Panic seized her for a moment. But common sense came to her rescue.

After all, she reasoned, the issue was not hers to decide. These men were experienced specialists in advertising. If she qualified in their opinion, might she not be as capable of doing the work as anyone who met with their approval? If the project had involved any other concern and its fortune, would she refuse the opportunity thus offered her? Of course not. Then, why not make good for herself and at the same time serve the man who had been her father and who held a secret place in her reserved affections? If she qualified with Weeks and Bowman, and made good, she suspected that he would be immensely pleased. The thought stimulated her conversation and quieted the tumult of her emotions that almost had conquered her when she entered the conference.

Somewhat—she never knew exactly what better forces were summoned to her aid—she survived the ordeal and even escaped with a gratifying sense of triumph. Of course, nothing definite had been decided, but her work had attracted surprised interest and she had promised to submit samples of her own ideas for the campaign as soon as possible for their consideration.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

PORTRAIT OF A GIRL

She is something of a pagan,
She is something of a saint,
And the combination makes her
As you might imagine; quaint.

One has moments touched with laughter,
Cruel as a nymph's could be,
Mocking at a luckless stray
From a fountain or a tree.

She has hours still and pensive,
Praying in a prayerful mood,
When all life, with fret and folly,
Seems a fleeting interlude.

She has days of wistful brooding,
She has times of heartless mirth,
And the combination makes her
Quite the dearest girl on earth.

Advance An Explanation

Flight Over Mount Everest Said Responsible For Earthquake

From the mysterious Himalayan kingdom of Nepal came a new explanation for the earthquake which recently shook all India, causing deaths unofficially estimated at 15,000.

From the tiger-shooting camp of a former maharajah of Nepal, 350 miles west of Katmandu, the capital, came word that followers of the maharajah blamed the recent successful flight of three British aviators over Mt. Everest for the catastrophe. They were reported to declare that the gods of the world's highest mountain, previously unconquered by man, had by the earthquake visitation wreaked vengeance upon humanity for invading their precincts.

Fine Record For Scotland Yard Force During 1933

Scotland Yard had only one unsolved murder during 1933, a year which in all probability will be recorded as the most memorable in the history of the Metropolitan police force.

Although the policies of Lord Trenchard, commissioner of police, have been violently assailed and ridiculed in the press and by caricaturists, progress has been made with his unique schemes of reorganization.

The year saw the beginning of what will prove to be a complete reorganization of the whole Scotland Yard administration.

But what has been of more international importance is its initiation of plans for closer co-operation between the detective forces of the Yard and its continental neighbors.

For the first time in history Scotland Yard officers flew to Amsterdam to meet and co-operate with officers from Belgium, France and Germany, and in so doing brought to justice a clever gang of international thieves.

Apart from actual crime the greatest interest was in the alterations that took place within the force itself. Lord Trenchard continued the work begun by Lord Byng of "cleaning" the force, and during the year many officers, some of high rank, were dismissed from the force.

Montreal And Winnipeg Head In Increases For December

An increase of more than $400,000 was shown in the value of building permits issued in 61 cities in December last, when the figures were $1,976,000 as compared with $1,569,000 in the corresponding month of 1932, according to a report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

Decreases were reported from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Of the four largest cities, Montreal and Winnipeg showed increases in December last as against the same month in 1932, while declines were shown by Toronto and Vancouver.

The Natal-Michel Observer is the latest addition to weekly newspapers in British Columbia. It is edited by the son of Mr. J. R. Wallace, proprietor of the Fernie Free Press, and the first number presents a bright appearance. Such a fine weekly merits the advertising support of the merchants of the two-towns, for it gives them an avenue for community activities which is a splendid asset. A community is judged very largely on the standard of its local newspaper and the support accorded it.

Coleman School District Comparative Financial Statement for 1933 and 1932

School Trustees Effect Economies in Keeping With Conditions.

At the annual meeting of ratepayers of Coleman school district on Jan. 26 a comparative statement of receipts and payments for 1932 and 1933 as compiled by the auditor, Mr. J. Emmerson, was submitted, at hereunder.

He also made the following recommendations:

It will be noted that there is a reduction in both current and arrears of taxes, and I would suggest that the secretary-treasurer continue as far as possible to have taxes paid on the instalment plan where taxpayers are not in a position to pay in full, when some further reduction may be possible.

A substantial reduction has also been made in the operation of the schools—the cost per capita shows a saving of $4.95 per pupil—Respectfully submitted, J. Emmerson, auditor.

 of whom he made a fine oil painting. Another Alberta artist's picture was that of L. Pettley Jones' "Squatter's Home in Edmonton," evidently taken from the outskirts, and showing in the dim background the University buildings. This picture has won high praise from critics.
 On Saturday evening Mr. Deniston Garner gave a very interesting half-hour talk on the exhibit and the work of artists. Of interest was his statement that he judged the mentality of people by the way they looked at pictures, and that hymens were usually more interested in the subject of a painting than from its merit as a work of art. Twenty feet was in most instances the proper distance to view a painting, whereas most people would stick their noses almost on the canvas and offer their criticism. He appreciated intelligent criticism but was down on people who with no appreciation of the artist's creative work and a general lack of knowledge offered plenty of criticism.
 The artist gets a lot of fun from life. He often discovered beauty in what appeared very ordinary things, men- tioned as an example the painting of a squatter's shack which attracted attention in the exhibit.
 His illustrations of pictures which were static, and of the same subjects showing action, and the so-called modern art, conveyed to the lay mind some interesting points in the artist's creative work. He mentioned the works of John Sargent and Whistler as exponents of the impressionist art of painting. He also interestingly pointed out the art of balance as demonstrated by pictures in the exhibit.

 The talks by Mr. Garner added a great deal to the interest of the exhibit, and a further visit would be welcomed.
